Rhino Rugby enter mouthguard sector with Forcetek partnership

Leading global sports brand Rhino Rugby, has agreed a major licence agreement with mouthguard protection specialists Forcetek. The partnership, brokered by sports rights agency Sport Collective, will see Rhino Rugby expand its presence in the mouthguard sector offering athletes a variety of unique protection products.

Forcetek's personnel boast over 50 years of dental experience, enabling them to guarantee the best mouthwear device for all requirements and insuring that players' teeth are protected from impact forces and general wear while participating in any contact sport. Each design of mouthguard is supported with comprehensive dental injury insurance.

Reg Clark, CEO of Rhino Rugby said: "As a premium rugby brand, Rhino has been looking to secure a best-in-class mouthguard protection partner and we're delighted to have agreed a partnership with Forcetek. We have ambitious plans for growth and Forcetek's expertise will greatly support this goal".

Lana Silence, Director of Forcetek said: "We're delighted to partner with Rhino Rugby and bring our collective expertise to the sports protection market. We will offer sports players and clubs mouthwear protection utilising up-to-date 3D software and manufactured using the latest cutting-edge dental laboratory equipment."
